

A Deeside Self Build Case Study

Introduction

Donna and Neil Allan had always dreamed of living in a house that ticked all the boxes on their wish list. Deeside Timberframe helped their dreams come true as they could offer the whole build package.

The couple looked into self-build, subscribing to specialist publications and visiting self-build shows. They compared different construction methods but opted for timber frame because of its traditional appearance and the cost-savings.

The Allans chose Deeside Timberframe, as we not only gave the most competitive price but also a very detailed specification which met their requirements perfectly.

The end result

"Deeside offered the whole package and gave us enormous choice in terms of finish, from the skirtings, doors and window frames right down to the door handles. There were no delays whatsoever. They were very organised and made us feel like we were the only people building a new home. Our architect was also impressed!"
Donna Allan.
